Complete Market Reports Corrected Each Day Giving the Wholesale Prices of Commodities, Farm Produce and Vegetables.

PORTLAND, June 19.—In view of the great shortage in the California apricot crop this year, there is a lively demand for whatever old stocks remain. Price for dried is becoming almost prohibitive, and the fruit will be regarded as a luxury. New crop, what there is of it, starts off with 11¢@12¢, and every prospect of much higher price in the near future.

The Southern Oregon crop of apricots is not heavy, and orchardists in that section will obtain high prices for their product. The way is open for a nice thing to be made out of the evaporated article this year.

Coffee.

There was a decline of $1.50 a case on Lion coffee announced yesterday, but the drop did not extend to other brands. Local packers seem not to follow drops made by the Lion people, but as a matter of fact Lion usually leads in decline, but follows in advance. The trade in package goods await action by Arbuckle and other big concerns with much interest, as the condition of bulk goods market would appear to foreshadow a drop in package.

Fresh Meats and Poultry.

There were quite light receipts of dressed meats this morning, and only moderate supplies of poultry. Monday is customarily a dull day for these goods, and today is no exception to the rule. No change in prices is noted.

Butter and Eggs.

The butter market is steady, with occasional claim among dealers that if the supplies continue to be received in same volume at last week, prices will shade off. Cheese is in very full supply and price inclined to weaken.

Eggs are generally quoted 21¢@22¢ this morning, with a decidedly firmer tendency than was observable last week. Supply is not holding out extra well, though there is no evidence of an early shortage.
